Peaches

Peach trees were hard hit last winter and there are very few bearing orchards left. There is also a shortage of trees in the nurseries, and next year there will be still fewer trees as the budding last summer was very light, most of the seedlings being winter killed. If you can get trees this spring, buy them, no matter what the price, and get in on the ground floor. There will be big money in peach growing for the next fifteen years. We offer a limited number of trees to early buyers.

Attractive Vines

Nothing lends such pleasing effect to wall or verandas as the judicious use of vines. The hardy vine is best adapted for covering an unsightly wall or for furnishing shade and ornament to verandas. With the advent of spring the tendrils are given new life and as the season advances they soon become a glorious veil of vernal verdure. Hardy vines practically take care of themselves after once established and are much more desirable and less trouble than annual or tender varieties. Without climbing vines many beautiful homes would present a sad and unprotected picture during our hot summers. In addition to their attractiveness they also give the home that exclusiveness that cannot be had in any other way.

Peonies

Queen of spring flowers. The Peony is a close rival of the Rose, either for plantings or for cutting. Its iron clad hardiness, adaptability to varying soils and locations, its wealth of bloom, richness of fragrance, and variety of color, all go to make it a general favorite. So we find it in a single clump by the cottage door, or pleasing variety in the flower garden; in costly and rare varieties in the grounds of the collector, and in extensive plantings in parks and in the grounds of the wealthy. A strong point is its hardiness. It may be truly said to be as hardy as the oak. Flowers very lasting, finely finished and exquisitely colored. Red, pink and white, best varieties, 30c each; $2.50 per 10.

Gentlemen:—The trees received from you have proven most satisfactory. I ordered from you 100 peach trees and have living 101. 100 cherry trees and have living 98. 50 grape vines and have living 47. The average growth of peach trees has been two feet; that of cherry trees a little less, and grape vines from two to three feet. Considering my inexperience and the character of the ground I think this is a very good recommendation for your stock.

Yours truly, M. E. CARR.

Evergreens

Evergreens are a symbol of the never-dying, and in the desolation of winter hold aloft the promise of continuous life when its icy grasp is loosened. In the main they are mountaineers, asking for pure air, rock or meager soil, but have great power to adapt themselves to almost any soil or exposure. Their place is in front on large lawns to make vistas therethrough, on the sides on modest grounds, and in the rear of low cottages for striking contrasts. They are invaluable to keep out prying eyes, to hide ugly outlooks, to give variety and to break the winds.

Deciduous Trees SHADE AND FLOWERING

No other investment that a person can make will bring more pleasure and profit than surrounding the home with well selected shrubs and trees; it is the fountain of perpetual youth which will keep any building young and interesting. The principles of proper planting are not hard to master. The shrubs should be massed into corners and borders, and a selection made differing in height so that all of them can be seen and intermingled in effect with their bloom coming at different seasons. Specimen trees or shrubs should be planted sparingly and with plenty of "elbow room" so that their beauty may be seen and appreciated. All trees and shrubs we offer can be grown with little care.

Roses

Hardy Field-Grown Bushes That Will Bloom Freely

Roses are the most beautiful of flowers and are among the easiest to raise. We have given great care to the culture of the plants we offer and the following list will be found worthy and well suited to our climate.

The most suitable soil is a strong, rich loam, or vegetable mould mixed with about one-quarter of its bulk in well decomposed stable manure. When the ground is of inferior character, holes should be dug three or four times the size of the roots of a well grown rose bush and be filled with compost of the above character. A rich, dry soil is all-important, otherwise the most double flower will frequently become single or semi-double.
